Ethan Allen Retail

From left to right
Denise Ziya, Jason Wilder, &
Grace Nickelson

Denise Ziya tailors each design to the needs of the client, working with all trade professionals involved in a project to ensure the client's space becomes more than a house. She works to ensure each design becomes a place her clients would love to call home. With over 30 years experience in the design business, Denise believes that form, function, and aesthetics form the foundation of great design. Denise used these principals when owning her own design business and over the last six years as part of the Ethan Allen team. She believes these principles are essential.

Jason Wilder attended Harrington College of Design, where he majored in residential interior design. He had his own interior design consulting business for fourteen years before joining Ethan Allen. His biggest passions as a designer are space planning—in particular, the art of making the most out of a small space—and creating beautiful spaces that function well for his clients' needs. He enjoys helping his clients understand why a certain piece works in the setting. Whether he's just adding a few pieces to a room to enhance its look or taking a room from empty to complete, Jason enjoys the design process; he loves to see his clients have a complete room that meets their needs.

Grace Nickleson believes that in every space, function and beauty go hand in hand. As an expert at space planning, she utilizes technology to show her clients that one space never has just one solution. Working together to achieve their vision, Grace helps her clients discover the best solutions for their unique lifestyles, aesthetic interests, and spaces. Grace joins the Ethan Allen Design Team after moving to Chicago from St. Louis. She holds a Bachelor of Science in Architectural Studies and Interior Design from the University of Missouri-Columbia.
